Common eurythmy will again be v. Elisabeth Halkier-Nielsen (DK) Remember eurythmy shoes.

One afternoon will be set aside for an art/cultural event.

On Friday 12 August, Ove Frankel passed away after a short illness. Ove was the initiator of the craft courses back in 1990 or 1991. We have often discussed the exact year, but it was simply too far back for us to determine it precisely. Over the years, Ove has been a huge inspiration on our courses. He has stuck to the consideration of art as a guiding principle in our work. Ove will be missed, but we continue undaunted along the path he has so thoroughly prepared. Glory be to his memory.

The following courses are held:

Woodworking , Tanja Schmedes Enevoldsen (DK)

There are so many opportunities to immerse yourself in the beautiful craftsmanship when working with wood.

Based on the Waldorf curriculum for grades 5-8. class, it is up to each individual participant to immerse themselves. There will be many different tasks to work on. Each day we will review a topic in detail. Ex. Surface treatment - Colors - Wood types - Green wood.

One of the days I will go through knife sharpening with all participants.

Needlework, Anne Hedegaard and Anne-Dorthe Grigaff (DK)

You can knit a space. We will work with knitting, crocheting and embroidery based on the lower school's class themes. We will see what we can transform when we explore the essence of the sketch and use leftover yarn and various forms of recycling as materials.

Bookbinding, Gert Hansen and Hanne Mahler (DK)

We will build sketchbooks that we cover with textile and/or paper. For cover material, this year we will dive into the ecoprint technique. The linen fabric will be decorated with prints of leaves and flowers, i.e. that the imprint arises from the dye the plant itself contains. The background color will also consist of plant color. It will also be possible to make impressions on paper.

Copper work, Dieter Genzmer (DK)

Copper is one of the most wonderful metals. Red in colour, very flexible and relatively cheap. We will explore this by creating three-dimensional shapes. With stretching and/or relief. It can be a beaker , a can or a watering can. The course is for both experienced and beginners who want to learn this more than 2000-year-old technique.

Shaping in iron, Einar Svavarsson (S)

During the week we will work with different forging techniques: stretching, flattening, punching , punching , chamfering , twisting, splitting , etc. Orientation on steel forging: hardening, tempering, grinding. Traditional surface treatment. We will weave everything into an artistic work with the iron. If you have specific wishes, or you need to join a class, we can find suitable presentations.

Metal casting, Felo Hettich (NL)

In addition to the magic of the liquid metal, we will direct our attention to the expression of the human beards. Here we are primarily thinking about 11th grade, Parcival's development path and how we can express these feelings. It can be gestures such as closed, open, receptive, rejecting and combinations thereof. Of course, themes in other classes will also be touched upon, depending on the area of interest of the participants.

Techniques that will be touched upon: cire perdue (lost form in plaster), casting in sepia shells, casting in oil sand.

Metals used: tin, bronze and silver.

Introduction to our work: v. Olaf Nybo (DK)

Eurythmy: v. Elisabeth Halkier-Nielsen (DK)
